Marketing Video Studio

A COMMITMENT TO SPEED AND QUALITY WORK.

As a video studio with a marketing approach, GlenFilm's mission is to make visual communications that appeal to clients and audiences from all over the world.

This means that, a lot of the time, GlenFilm needs to adapt its content's language.

When it came to certain languages, the studio encountered trouble getting translations within the established deadlines.

We compared offers from several translation agencies, and the fastest one turned out to be DayTranslations - we received our corrections during Christmas holiday just as fast as on a regular day. No competitors that were simultaneously working on translations for our other projects could boast anything like that. - GlenFilm

Lights, Camera, Action!

With GlenFilm, we worked on several Baltic languages, for which other companies charge extra. And if there were edits to be made, we provided them free of charge.

*Previously, we used to engage with several agencies that were always different. By now, thanks to Day Translations, that number has been reduced, since this company works with a multitude of languages and provides thoughtful answers to our questions, as well as additional suggestions regarding the text that has already been translated.
